

From: NJ Sharing Network News
To: NJ Sharing Network News
Subject: NJSN News - April 3, 2020
Date: Friday, April 3, 2020 5:31:17 PM
Attachments: BC the Mag.pdf
Importance: High

NJ Sharing Network in the News – April 3, 2020

During this time of uncertainty, NJ Sharing Network continues to be here for our donation community. We would like to share some positive thoughts and information with you, including a powerful video message from our own Jackie Salvatore, Family Services Coordinator. Jackie shares four important tips on how to help with grief and to process the emotions we are feeling day by day. We are in this together, and we hope everyone is healthy and safe.

“We are All Grieving Right Now” by Jackie Salvatore

For more inspiring clips, please watch NJ Sharing Network’s latest highlight reel of key broadcast media placements over the last six months (October 2019 - March 2020):

Broadcast Highlights

The stories below highlight our staff and volunteers in donation and transplantation news throughout the state:

Denise Peoples, Hospital and Community Services Coordinator, was interviewed on Magic98.3 Community Outreach radio show about her story as a double-lung transplant recipient, as well as her role heading up NJ Sharing Network’s multicultural effort, #DonationNeedsDiversity

Northjersey.com did a story for its “Above and Beyond” hometown heroes series on Little Falls resident Nick Sauter, whose life was saved a year ago by his neighbor Robert Connizzo through a living kidney transplant

BC the Mag did a story on Christopher Piccininni receiving a scholarship from NJ Sharing Network Foundation’s partner fund, Hearts for Emma (attached)

A photo from the Rose Parade was placed in the Gatherings section of Morris Essex Health & Life – on page 68

Patch.com covered Lakisha Bray’s story – her daughter gave the gift of life and her sister died while waiting for a life-saving transplants. Bray plans to participate in the 5K Celebration of Life as well as the Transplant Games of America

Seton Hall Magazine shared the announcement of alumni Carolyn Welsh, VP and Chief Clinical

Officer, celebrating 20 years of service with NJ Sharing Network - on page 36

CM, Community Magazine from Monmouth County also did a Q&A with Carolyn Welsh, a Colts Neck resident

Mike Lamberti covered Mike DiPiano receiving the Harry E. Lake Award for his contribution to wrestling. The piece includes his participation in the Rose Parade as well as the Transplant Games of America